GET OUT AND GET OUT QUICKLY!

Lindsay's Chamber of Commerce has been maneuvered into a very undesirable position, a position it should endeavor to get out of and out of quickly. There's no time to lose. . . The chips are down and it would look as though the game was going to get rough. . . Here, in the Lindsay area, we are proceeding further with its proposed bloodless political plans.

When Dr. C.W.M. Service, Lindsay surgeon, spoke in opposition to the plan at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, he was not "a voice in the wilderness" as some slanted reports implied. This was one of the most important "Two Towns" speakers who had the courage it required to speak out. . . It takes a lot of courage to do that but once someone breaks the ice, it's possible for others to follow. . . Lindsay newspapers have given the Chamber of Commerce, its management and the Town of Lindsay a thorough going over concerning this radical plan to introduce a restricted Latin-American custom into Canada.

Lindsay doesn't need, nor can it stand, too much of the above publicity. . . It's making the town the laughing stock of Ontario, and, as has been noted by Dr. Service and others, this is not apt to attract the type of people to Lindsay who will contribute to its development.

Another very serious aspect of this situation is the fact that the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has been placed in false light in a statement attributed to a Chamber of Commerce official appearing in a local weekly newspaper. A Chamber of Commerce paper, the "Lindsay Post", has Lindsay cleared with O.S.P.C.A. in Toronto. The O.S.P.C.A. emphatically denies this and it is understood that it is contemplating legal action against the "Post" for the injury its good name has suffered.

Now, there could be great play on words concerning this affair, but this is a time for plain talk. We would like to see Lindsay Chamber of Commerce to disassociate itself from the bullfight ring as quickly as possible, mend whatever fences it can on the way out, and reverting to its own line of work, leaving the other towns to those who make a specialty of it. Very little would be lost at this stage in the game and face-saving is still possible but the point of no return with its apparent hazards is at hand. It would be fool to proceed.

ACTION AND CREDIT

Several days ago attention was called to the fact that a pioneer Mariposa cemetery had been partially razed. The remains were made ready for transport to Trans-Canada Highway. . . It was urged at that time that the Township of Mariposa take some action to protect the graves of those people who contributed to its early history and an appeal which was made on previous occasions but which went unheeded.

After the appearance of the editorial we received a communication from Premier Frost and subsequent inquiries were made with the Highway Department. Mr. Sims of the Port Hope division of this department was especially helpful, as was Mr. Glen Gordon of Mr. Frost's office and as a result, their combined action, results were obtained. The cemetery is being nicely tidied up and, where possible, damage righted. This is a credit to the Dept. of Highways and to the contractors responsible for doing the work. All that remains now is for the proper authority to be established to see that this burial ground gets the periodic attention it requires and that it is protected against its further molestation. The Oakwood Cemetery Board or Mariposa Township Council should give some leadership in this respect.

IT'S NO LONGER "SMART" TO SPEED

It was not too long ago that the manufacturers placed emphasis on the speed which their products were capable of attaining. This is no longer so and, while cars are more powerful than ever, the industry is joining in a healthy attitude of "let's slow down and live". It's no longer "smart" to speed. . . it's deadly!

"Slow down and live" is the advice to drivers being repeated over and over again across Canada and throughout the United States, during the heavy vacation travel months. In Ontario, to prevent the needless loss of life and limb in traffic accidents caused by the unreasonable desire to go too far and too fast on vacation and holiday journeys, the Ontario Department of Transport will have in operation during the summer a campaign to persuade drivers to fit their driving to traffic.

"The first holiday of the summer" points out Highway Safety Council W.D.O. Raybould, "is now July 3rd, Dominion Day, and highways to the many resort areas in Ontario will be packed with vacationists. With many things to think about, some drivers are apt to forget the most important thing, . . . to be safe and to drive slowly."

Here are some driving reminders from the Highway Safety Branch, based on accident experience:

1. Plan for regular stops to rest and stretch.
2. After the vehicle is loaded, try it for acceleration and stopping before venturing on a highway.
3. Be sure the vehicle is in good operating condition.
4. Pack equipment and baggage securely.
5. Make sure your tires are in good condition and properly inflated.
6. Distribute loads as evenly as possible. Heavy loads in the rear raise the front end and affect steering.
7. Keep your mind on the traffic picture.
8. Start early and give yourself plenty of time to reach your destination.

PREMIER FROST AND PUBLIC UTILITIES

Premier Leslie Frost is reported this week to be opposed to natural gas being made a public enterprise like hydro. He, like many other people, believes competition is the life of trade and that the introduction of a new enterprise on a broad price basis in Ontario has been the best tonic the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission has had since it acquired its monopoly on electric power.

There is, however, another side to these competitive sources of energy. This has to do with municipally-operated public utilities commissions which might be interested in the light and power business by having the distribution rights for natural gas and hydro under their control. Mr. Frost has declared himself ready to assist such a move, but it is possible he may not be permitting himself to be placed in the position of recommending such arrangements.

Competition is the tried and tested stimulator of business and operates in the best interests of the consuming public. Eliminate it and you get monopolies and monopolies hurt pricing and indifference to the public's needs, often to the point of regarding the public with complete disdain. This happens so often in publicly-owned enterprises that it is difficult to remain, the more likely we are to have efficient, courteous service.

The thought that public enterprise could do things cheaper and better has not been borne out by time and experience in this field.

Would engage local bulls, C of C talent for bullfight

91 Regent St., Lindsay, June 26th.

The Editor, Lindsay Post.

Dear Sir: I want to congratulate Dr. Service, and A.M. Fulton on their stand in regards to the bull fight. It is good to know we have people in their positions who are not afraid to state their opinion.

As this is to be a bullfight which is not a bullfight, why not block off Kent St., get a local bull and let the chase be the C of C secretary and officers, let them down the street. The others could act as picadors at the intersections to keep the bull on a straight course. Why not have a parade the afternoon and invite all the Sunday School, or they could learn how to overcome evil with good?

After this most wonderful demonstration of overcoming evil with good, the C of C may be asked to go out and get some worthwhile industries for the town. This is also a lot more could be done for sports and other things that would be of lasting value.

Andrew Gilchrist.

"What's happened to your town?"

Ripley, Ontario, June 24, 1969.

The Editor, The Lindsay Post, Lindsay, Ont.

Dear Sir: I was happy to see your letter to the editor. It is better to have a letter to the editor than to have a letter to the editor. It is better to have a letter to the editor than to have a letter to the editor.

The wondering what's happened to the town. The wondering what's happened to the town. The wondering what's happened to the town. The wondering what's happened to the town. The wondering what's happened to the town.

Emergency Care
For a quick, cleansing—oil-freezing, use—carry a moist towel on a fold on close the size of your palm. Lacking this, moisten a cloth with water, and pat your skin to remove it and pick up surface oil. Then, pressed powder, liquid, a refreshing touch of your perfume-in-the perfume, and you're all set to go.

A Divine Figure
A "divine figure" means getting rid of excess pounds, and inches. The one sure way to reduce is to cut down your daily intake of calories and step up physical activity. So, start now to eat right, eat less, and eat more variety. Outdoor sports, active exercise, or passive exercise on some reduce a calorie will help correct poor posture and lighten flabby muscles, thus reduce your measurements. Good posture is essential.

Showering Rules
A group of high school boys turned up at school in Greenville, Tennessee, dressed in feed sacks. The eight boys said they were showing their skins for the dramatic work by their insurance companies.

Will Lead Revue
The O-G-Navy says a couple from Columbus, Ohio will lead the remnants of the navy's first night fighter squadron up to World War II.

The couple—Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. William—are parents of a pilot who flew with the squadron off the old carrier "Independence." They adopted the remaining members of the squadron after their gun, Lieutenant, George Williams was killed in 1945.

The adoptive parents have been doing it two or three times since the end of World War Two and will host again at the reunion in New York on June 10th. The only way the couple has to mind money to thousands miles visiting members of the night fighter squadron.

Get Up And Go
If you're looking for a man with get-up and go take a look at the dapper men taking part in the Indianapolis speedway today. A car driven of the 25 drivers, drove that most of them are family men. However, Ed Kilian of Oakland, California, is a bona fide bachelor.

And the only one driving in the 100-mile race, has three other drivers. Eddie Smith, Church Weyant and Ben Voth ... are single by means of divorce.

Diagnose
People like dogs, but when they can't be satisfied the owners should learn from it. One lady had quite a time trying to talk with her hands and also trying to keep the dog from barking everything apart. It was too risky for her hand and she spent all her time trying to make the dog. The moral of this story is that some dogs are bad but they must be obedient if they want to keep one's house.

The Fanclub
One night after a grueling day's work at a store, Percy Strawn, who at that time was running the store fell into bed several midnight exhausted. At 2 a.m., his bedside phone "rang. A charming feminine voice identified itself as that of Mrs. Noel of Birmingham, Long Island. She said: I just wanted to tell you, Mr. Strawn, that I am perfectly satisfied with the dinner, hear it, brought to Mary's for my little granddaughter's Christmas. "I am delighted to hear it made" replied. Mr. Strawn a "sorry" said. "But may I ask you telephone me at any time, at that house, to tell me so?" Because you no so and so truck just wake me up, delivering it, and being up.

Some Hog Producers are asking:
"Who has to pay a licence fee to the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board?"

Answer: Truckers or drivers are defined as shippers under the Marketing plan and they must be licensed with the producer board at a licence fee of $1.00 per year. This is necessary in order that farmers have control of the hogs until they are sold. Producers do not require a licence.

Fish Hatcheries Preserve Canada's Reputation Keep Country Anglers' Paradise

Canada is one of the world's great sport fishing countries and carefully controlled programs of research and preservation are regularly carried out in many parts of the country to maintain her reputation as an angler's paradise.

Restocking lakes by aerial planting of yearlings has proved very successful in recent years and many hitherto inaccessible lakes may now be reached by aircraft.

Research into the type of food required by different varieties of fish is carried out at Canada's fish hatcheries. Speckled trout (shown above) formerly fed a diet of ground liver now thrive better on a pelleted seed food.

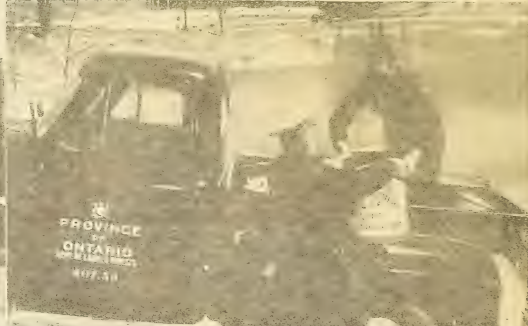

Speckled trout are placed in specially designed containers for distribution; each can holds about 500 yearlings. Careful handling keeps fish mortality at an absolute minimum.

A nest of coarse gravel protected by a wooden shield is prepared on a pond bed for the female who will enter it to spawn. Male then takes over, guarding the nest and fanning eggs until they are hatched.

At White Lake rearing ponds a truck is loaded with its precious cargo. Every year the success of such re-stocking measures pays off in the ever-increasing numbers of sportmen who are attracted to Canada's lakes and streams. A study of the effects of overcrowding has led to the removal of the size limit on pickered and bass although the 7" limitation on trout remains in most parts of the country.

Indian Pageant in the Rockies

When the big annual Pow Wow at Banff gets underway in mid-July of this year it will be the 64th time the Indian braves have ridden into the Rocky Mountain National Park to delight and entertain palace holidayers with exhibitions of horse-racing, bronco-busting, rope contests, bow and arrow competitions and native dancing. Chief Sitting Eagle of the Stony Indians (above) dresses in his full tribal regalia for the colourful spectacle which every year attracts thousands of visitors to one of Canada's most beautiful vacation spots.

Stony Indian papoose, little Marie France Saddleback, casts a critical eye on proceedings as preparations get underway for the gala Pow Wow which generally lasts for four fun-filled days and nights.

In a tense battle of skill and endurance, Indian braves pit their strength against spirited horses. Stony Indians are splendid horsemen, but the occasional spilt enlivens the thrill of the bronco-busting contest.

one of the young Indian dancers who entertained the crowds with exhibitions of tribal dances; George Crawley, attired in the full-feathered headgear of his people.

SOME MEDICAL ADVICE

If you are going to Asia or Africa you will require immunization against epidemic typhus. Certain vaccination is necessary for those visiting Asia. Plague vaccine should be given only when epidemic occurs.

If possible, these immunizations

Dear Dr. Steingross: We

time, here is a shorter sche planning an extensive vacation this year. We haven't decided what countries we are going to visit. Could you give us some of the correct procedure in preventive inoculations, etc? Where to get them, when to be inoculated, the respective laws of various countries regarding immunization? Mr. A. W.

Suggested by Dr. Kean:
First day: yellow fever vaccine (100)
Fourth day: typhoid and tetanus
immunizations
Seventh day: Cholera and typhoid
immunizations
Eleventh day: typhoid and smallpox
immunizations
Seventeenth day: typhoid and smallpox
immunizations

ANSWER: Better take this problem to your family physician. It will probably require quite a few inoculations. Let him make arrangements after you have decided upon your itinerary.

I have come across some practical information in Modern Medical annual which digests an article written in the New England Medical Journal by R. M.

If you are going into malarious areas, for prophylaxis take chloroquine diphosphate (Aralen) 1 weekly in doses of 0.5 gm. start 30 days before arriving in the malarial area and continue taking until you return home.

The United States requires the traveller shall have had smallpox vaccination three years less from the expected date of return; some countries, however, require a two-year certificate.

Wherever you go, diarrhea is likely if you do not eat unusual and highly seasoned foods, or drink contaminated water. If you should get diarrhea, eat sparingly.

to visit Central or South America, Africa, Asia, or the Pacific area. Your certificate will not be acceptable 10 days after inoculation but it will then be valid for one to six years.

As for preventing motion sickness, take bismuth subcitrate, applesauce, tea—one or two of these every two hours. The most useful drug in simple diarrhea is paregoric. If unavailable, take morphine, kaolin or pectate.

Every traveller should receive three or four subcutaneous injections of standard typhoid vaccine at intervals of seven to ten days. Anticapsular prophylaxis is also recommended; 3 inoculations of this at intervals of three or four weeks followed by booster shots at monthly intervals. Children should get diphtheria and pertussis immunization. A single dose will the same similar preparation, orfankam grams (four hours before board-plane or ship and repeat once daily. Take a medical along with you that contains meter, aspirin, motion-sick-remedy, antihistamine, diarrmedication, sulfohamide, insu-dine, soap, toilet paper, and phone number of personal phsician. If you need urgent advice can call him by international phone.

If you want a doctor where you are, contact the American Embassy, or American Consulate travel bureau in the man-of a large hotel. They can pro-you with the names of well-foreign physicians who speak Enlish.

Your Grocery Bill Will Go Up Again

On Friday, July 25th, with scarcely a whisper from "The Press", some of the farmers in this province voted themselves into the hands of an organization called the Ontario Hog Producers Marketing Organization whose stated purpose is a monopolistic control over all hogs marketed in this province.

Their claim is that they will obtain higher prices for the produce of the members of their organization but this can not be done without directly or indirectly taking more money from the pockets of the people of this province (including those farmers who are not members of this association and those members who voted against this measure being adopted).

Ask Yourself These Questions

Shouldn't all the people have a vote on a question that affects the well being of us all?

Would a government that felt itself responsible to the people, lend its support to such a measure?

Why not demonstrate to these would be monopolists that it still takes both a buyer and a seller to complete a transaction.

Wilson Mills Southam

Publisher of The Ottawa Citizen, 1897-1950

It is said many notable newspaper men have had "spine's ink in their veins." This may or may not have been so in the case of William Mills Southam, but probably more for the fact that he undoubtedly got it on his hands.

Closely associated with the printing and publishing business for nearly 60 years, Mr. Southam made his first contact with it when he was only 15 years old. He went to work in the old Mail Job Printing Company which was founded by his father and which eventually became Southam Press, Toronto.

The early contact with the actual production of printing was never forgotten by W. M. Southam. He never lost interest in the technique of printing or in the promotion and welfare of the men who were associated with the mechanical phase of producing his newspaper.

Wilson Mills Southam was born October 2, 1888, at London, Ontario, eldest son of the late William and Wilson Mills Southam. He moved with his family to Hamilton in 1897 when William Southam and his partner bought The Hamilton Spectator.

Educated in public schools and Hamilton Collegiate, he joined his father in the management of The Spectator on the death of the partner, William Carey. In 1897 he became managing director and publisher of The Ottawa Citizen when it was purchased by his father. He retired from active direction of The Citizen in 1929 to take over management of Southam Limited, at that time the holding company for all the Southam interests.

He retired from active business in 1935 and died on August 24, 1947.

At the time as a newspaper publisher, Wilson Southam's coming mid would find him to explore new paths. Inductured by Lord Grey, a Liberal-Linking Governor General, he collaborated in founding the Proportional Representation Society of Canada, and in creating Mackenzie King's membership.

At the end of World War I, when the Great War Veterans' Association lacked funds to meet adequate office space, The Citizen's publisher made office available rent-free, provided one entire floor of the Citizen building. From this pioneer beginning of the G.W.V.A., emerged the Canadian Legion.

After retirement from active service in the daily newspaper field, Mr. Southam continued to follow existing paths. During the years of chronic depression, he received the award of Raymond Keynes in favour of a more liberal monetary policy, to encourage business. From Minister Bennett agreed with him but as far as the support of business, colleague or economic adviser, he was averse to a recurrence of inflation.

Mr. Southam was one of the first to sense the value of classified advertising in the readability of his newspaper, as distinct from revenue, and he featured it fully. The result was that classified advertising came to become a tradition with The Citizen.

In his liberal thinking, Wilson Southam was far ahead of his time. From his earliest newspaper days he had the keenest sympathy with the labor movement and privately published the pamphlets and documents on unbalanced labor-management relationships. He was also an advocate of a revised World Calendar when this was considered a piling the clock back to 1900.

In 1899, Mr. Southam married Henrietta A. Cargill, third daughter of the late Henry Cargill, M.P., of Cargill, Ontario. They had four sons and two daughters.

Realistic Reptile Replicas

Archie Reid, of Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum has developed a new method of making exhibits for the museum's reptile collection which has attracted widespread attention.

Reid and Mr. L. Sternberg, (right) check mold for a Banded Krait. Mold, which is made from dental plaster, will then be coated with 1/16" latex. Final exhibits are to realistic art students use them for models.

A young Toronto technician has developed a revolutionary new method of constructing reptile exhibits for museum displays which has many advantages over the old-fashioned skin-stuffing of the taxidermist. Animals are brought live to the museum for extensive photography and observation and then cast in a mold from which an exact rubber replica is later made. The new method not only permits a much more realistic reproduction without any of the subsequent deterioration of the taxidermist's dummies but also has the added advantage that many copies can be made from the original mold.

Ario Gatti trims latex replica of an Iguana lizard. Afterwards a thin coat of shellac is applied, then model is painstakingly painted to match live lizard.

Fundy's Friendly Tides

Text:
Fundy's fabulous tides — believed to be the highest in the world — have tried the skill and patience of sailors for centuries, but to Nova Scotia's fishermen who dwell near the Minicoupe marshlands at the head of the Bay of Fundy they are known as the "Friendly Tides" for twice a day when the tides roll in they bring with them a rich harvest of shad, a tasty fish of the herring class. The fishermen hang their nets on stakes at low tide, then return to their homes to wait for the tides (which in some parts of the Bay reach a height of 70 feet) to drive the shad ashore where they become trapped in the nets. When the tide goes out again the fishermen may take in as many as 1000 shad. This picturesque and unusual method of fishing requires only the simplest of gear: a net, a cart and a ladder.

Shad, which are trapped by their gills in the net are removed at low tide. The fish average about 2 feet in length, weigh up to 14 pounds. Shad roe is considered a great delicacy by connoisseurs.
